Telefonski Imenik Slovenije 2013 is the latest version of Slovenia's phone book released by T-2 this year. The new edition contains a lot of changes and improvements in comparison to the previous editions. One of the most notable innovations is a more user-friendly, better integrated design of entries, which will facilitate the use of this publication not only for professionals in its field, but also for average users who need information on numbers from any person or company from Slovenia. In addition to being published every year at around September time, Telefonski Imenik Slovenije has been produced since 1958. This service has been provided by Telekom Slovenije d.d. to make it easier for citizens of Slovenia to retrieve phone numbers of companies, institutions, etc. from the public telephone directory.

Editors: Forum for public discussion: Reports - Year 2015:

Articles in the book contain data from about 1000 companies, institutions, institutions and individuals. The sources are published in this book are mentioned below. The entries were verified by the information contained in these sources. They are made possible due to the cooperation with institutions that provided these data and ensured that all allowed and protected proprietary rights would be respected. These entries reflect actual state of affairs and do not imply official endorsement or otherwise of any business or individual listed here. The table below contains data only about the individuals that are included in this publication. To keep the book as clear and simple as possible, all names of companies or institutions are listed under the administrative or organisational title. This is especially useful for searching, because it allows to differentiate business houses with different legal entities located in different parts of Slovenia. When you enter a name directly into the search field on this website, you will only see the results that can be found under that particular name.

About 50 articles are included into the downloadable e-book of T-2's Slovenian phone book called . The book contains 200 pages, which can be saved both on your computer and on your mobile phone (in PDF format). This publication contains the most important information about the companies and institutions that are included in the previous editions of this book, including all their contact details. Entries are presented according to the alphabetical order of company names, but it is possible to sort them by location (city / postal code), tel/fax numbers or web addresses.

Telefonski Imenik Slovenia e-book 2012 contains information about more than 1500 companies and institutions that are listed in this phone directory. This publication also contains a map of Slovenia, as well as an alphabetically ordered list of Slovenian cities.
